WALTER ABBOTT
In Memoriam

Valedictory

The Motto of the Class of 1933 is
"CHARACTER IS THE CORNERSTONE OF SUCCESS."
By Dorothy Koehler

For four years we have been trying to live up to it, but have we ever, in all that time, stopped to think what that motto really means? I tried to analyze it, and failing, turned to the dictionary for help. I looked for "character" first and found that it was derived from a Greek word meaning "stamp," or, "a mark originally used as a symbol of ownership." Going farther I found that character was the sum of the "distinctive qualities by which a person is recognized in distinction from others; the sum of traits that make up a person's moral and mental being."

I stopped to think; what "stamp" have we set upon ourselves? For years our parents, teachers, and friends have tried to build in us those mental and moral traits that are best and highest. As we go out into the world, we continually alter, either adding to, or subtracting from, the stamp that distinguishes us from others. What then are the mental and moral traits that we should cultivate if we are to lay our cornerstones of Success firmly and securely? What qualities must we build in ourselves if the "stamp of ownership" we bear within ourselves is to be distinctive?

Perhaps the first and most important quality we need is Loyalty, for it is so far-reaching in its implications. Our loyalty must be of the active, not the passive kind. We must be faithful and constant to our families, our school, our work, and our friends. We must be willing to give ourselves in their services. It is not enough, for instance, to be loyal to your school, or your job, in words. You must be willing to show that loyalty actively by doing something for your school, by giving the best of yourself to your job.

Another quality we need to develop is Responsibility. If we are to succeed in anything from the most trivial to the most important task, we must be dependable. A promise given should be so sacred to us that we would never think of breaking it. If we accept a task nothing should prevent us from accomplishing it. The teacher or the employer ought never to have to give the matter another thought. If we are to be successful, we must be responsible and dependable; the kind of a person of whom it is said, "You can always count on him. If he says he'll do it, he will."

A third quality we should have is Honesty. This should apply not only to our acts but to our speech as well. We should be absolutely truthful in everything we say. No one ought to be able to say of us, "Oh well, you always have to take what she says with a grain of salt." We should be honest in our thoughts, too, as well as in our acts and in our speech. If we are to lay a firm cornerstone to success we must learn to look ourselves straight in the eye, so to speak, and tell ourselves the truth. We mustn't "kid" ourselves along. If we have done a job poorly we must admit it if we are to avoid making the same mistakes again. If, as the poet says, we are "to rise on our dead selves to higher things," we must learn to be honest in our thoughts.

In the fourth place we must be Industrious. No one achieves success without lots of hard work. It's easy enough to think that we will work hard and be industrious once we are out in the world, but not only must we have the foundation for future success that comes from hard work in school, but also the habit of industry. Many people have found to their cost that they let things slide too long, and opportunity passed them by. If we are to be successful we must cultivate the habit of industry now. P. T. Barnum, the great showman, said, "Stick to your business and you may be sure that your business will stick to you. It is this directing your whole mind and energies at one point that brings success."

Last of all, we must have Self-Reliance. Emerson, in his famous essay on Self-Reliance says, "Trust thyself: every heart vibrates to that iron string!" If we want to inspire the trust and confidence of others, we must believe in ourselves, not with an arrogant, overbearing conceit, but with a quiet confidence in our own abilities. We must rely upon our own powers. It has often been said that if you think failure, you will be a failure, and if you think success, you will be a success. To a certain extent this is true. We must cultivate self-confidence and self-reliance if we are to achieve. The man who thinks for himself and makes his own decisions is the one who succeeds. To quote Emerson again, "What I do is all that concern me, not what people think. This rule, equally arduous in actual and intellectual life, may serve for the whole distinction between greatness and meanness."

Let us then strive to set a worthy stamp upon ourselves; a stamp of distinction, by cultivating Loyalty, Responsibility, Industry, and Self-Reliance. It is thus that we will build character that will be a real cornerstone to success.

May we always remember that,

"Our acts our angels are, or good or ill,
Our faithful shadows that walk by us still."

Looking Ahead With the Class of '33

By Earl Clement

The question of what the future holds in store for us is one that can not be answered with a very large degree of accuracy. Even though predictions have some information can be obtained as to what will prevail in the next few years, during our progress toward maturity.

They are our observations of present trends and the opinions and reports of people who have studied the past and present day conditions.

These sources appear to justify the conclusions that we are entering a period which will bring a decided change in our political, social, and economic life and which will generate new possibilities, new fields, and new problems.

The Class of '33 can look forward to a world which offers not only opportunities but also opportunities that are new and challenging.

What then will be the nature of this challenge which will offer new opportunities? Present social trends furnish our best clews for the answer to this question.

A commission appointed during Mr. Hoover's administration recently completed a survey of social trends. It is true that the report of this commission seemed in general to be quite pessimistic. However, there are three conclusions which can be drawn from this report that are quite encouraging to a group of students graduating this year.

These are, that people are beginning to realize the necessity of facing reality, that there is a trend from passive to active amusement, and that people are becoming less materialistic.

When people actually face reality instead of backing away from it they immediately become cognizant of the problems confronting them, the solutions of which demand a change from present conditions. Facing reality is the first step in such a change. However, the mere recognition of the need for a change is not sufficient; action is the next requirement.

A change from passive to active amusement is certainly a step in the right direction for one's attitude and behavior toward play is a good index of his attitude and behavior toward work. Nevertheless not action alone but action guided by the highest ideals, can secure a change for the better.

Dethroning the God of Materialism promises this guidance, because it will result in directing men's activities toward things of a more benevolent nature. His interests will become more unselfish and his pursuit of cultural activities will be greatly increased.

If these charcateristics continue to develop, the Class of '33 can expect a change for the better.

Even though, up to this point, changes have been considered ,the fact remains that there are certain human qualities that have been tried and found worthy. The only change needed in connection with these is the placing of greater emphasis upon them. It is to be hoped that the Class of '33 will play an active part in the shifting of this emphasis.

In the opinion of progressive educators it is the purpose of an education to teach students to recognize and appreciate the qualities, to instill in them a respect and an adherence to the best traditions of the past, and to place more emphasis on how to live rather than on how to make a living. They feel that the best things in the past and present will continue to be good in the future and will furnish a foundation upon which to build a greater tomorrow. This, I am glad to say is the basis for the educational program at M. H. S.

The Class of '33 can look forward to a future which will contain the things which are everlastingly good and which will retain the best qualities of the past and present.

With what equipment is the Class of '33 starting out in life? From the past it has inherited a country founded on democratic principles with its best traditions. From the present it has received an educational foundation. It has a future which promises a change for the better, a coninuance of the best things we have today, and the greatest of all things challenging new opportunity.

Class Will

By Lloyd Hoff, Margaret Batchelder and Larry Newberry

We, the class of 1933, of Medina High School, being in full possession of all our reasoning powers, do hereby proclaim our last Will and Testament.

Martha Keifer divides her excellent memory between Lucille Deyell and Doris Everhard.

Kenneth Kirk promises Howard Higgins a bottle of brilliantine.

Dorothy Koehler leaves a little excess knowledge to Ted Jones.

Joe Komjati bequeaths his alertness to Mae Maitland.

Wanda Koppes surrenders her basketball ability to Isabelle West.

June Lincoln gives her loud voice to Ramona Renner.

Lester McDermand bequeaths one good sledge hammer to straighten out fenders to Lester Selzer.

Elizabeth McMillan endows Ruth Armstrong with her quiet ways.

Bernice Mugrage leaves her sense of humor to Rose Mary Weir.

Margaret Neumeyer endows Alice Adams with her moody gaze.

Larry Newberry wills his Austin to Polly Anderson so she can go to Creston to see him.

Bob Potts endows Arza Halliwill with his famous operation.

Ruth Rickard bequeaths her cute little giggle to Josephine Steingass.

Bob Smith endows Bill Eastwood with his captivating manner.

Helen Snyder has decided that she can spare 7 and 3/8 pounds to Ruth Mabry.

Marian Tamas will give her ability to type to any Junior who has long fingers.

Margaret Thomas bequeaths her knack at mastering stenographic studies to Louise Griesinger.

Harold Thompson will give his grey hat to anyone who'll keep it clean.

Virginia Tillar endows Fern Auble with her "permanent" permanent.

Russel Whitmore bequeaths his pipe to Calvin Toth.

George Whitfield presents to Duane Clark his Romeo habits.

Bill Wilkey leaves his golden locks to Morris Lubin.

Lloyd Hoff promises 24 empty bottles to Harry Indoe.

Marcel Hoff leaves his sprinting ability to Bob Adams.

Katherine Kaufman bestows her ability to stand on her head upon Marian Horton.

Elizabeth Thomas surrenders her happ-go-lucky manner to Eliza Martin.

Place—Drawing room of the Bowen home at Bowen Acres.

THE STORY

The three Knight Brothers met Betty Bowen at a dance. Each had fallen in love with her. When each seeks employment in the Bowen home, playing the part of the servant he has bribed to leave, the fun begins! Betty, not recognizing them, is shocked at their antics, but she soon realizes that they are not ordinary servants! And Mrs. Weather is at her wit's end, to know what to think of them!

When Ella Mae Eccleston, Lord Martin Copley, and Lady Henel arrive for a visit, the situation becomes complicated. And when Janet Riggs finds that the Bowens' new servants are her three cousins things happen! Manners elminates Lord Martin from the competition, by a clever trick. Miss Margaret realizes that John is not a competent chauffeur—and she decides to place Henry in an insane asylum, so Fisher is summoned, to take charge of him! But matters are finally straightened out. John resolves to remain a bachelor; Henry falls in love with Betty's friend, Ella Mae; and Manners wins the hand of Betty Bowen. So all are happy, in the end!

Social Activities

By Mary Louise Long

With the aid of the administration and faculty:

We, the Freshmen, bashful and retiring though we are, merrily danced on each other's toes, and played "Farmer in the Dell" at our class party.

We, the Sophomores, imbued with a festive air for the occasion, each wore a dunce cap to our party—and oh, those April Fool pranks!

We, the Juniors, had our class party March 17. With tasty refreshments and much dancing to a real orchestra, we had an unusually successful party.

We, the proud and mighty Seniors, held our class party 'midst the clatter of many rattles. We, dignified babies, each wearing a bib under our chin, toddled gaily about to the strains of "Pink Elephants."

AND NOW, THE BIG EVENT—

The year's social activities were culminated in a truly big affair, the Junior-Senior Banquet. Beginning with a delicious dinner, the evening progressed with games and dancing. It was the common opinion that the Banquet was one of the nicest ever given.

MUSIC NOTES

Under the baton of Miss Adkins, the High School orchestra of twenty-six members, provided many very enjoyable programs for our Assemblies playing once before the Kiwanis Club.

Another group is our band, composed of thirty-six members. Under the direction of Mr. Lincoln, their leader, they have played for many of the basketball games.

AND IN APPRECIATION—

Our opportunities for hearing and enjoying good music have been many this past year, for never have we had such excellent programs of outside talent at our assemblies.

CLASS HISTORY

By Maxine Snyder

Last fall the Sophomore A's and B's elected officers. They were as follows: Elmer Nichols, president; Maynard Pelton, Vice-president; Buster Kaufman, secretary; Jean Halderson, treasurer.

The first month of the second semester the Sophomores in 228 were the proud possessors of the Spelling trophy. However, this reward did not give the needed inspiration. Consequently, the trophy was soon carried back to the Seniors.

On March thirty-first, All Fool's Eve was celebrated with a party, at which each present wore a gayly decorated dunce cap, the spirit of which carried through the evening.

CLASS HISTORY

By Elsie Ann Stine

With each one of us clutching our mothers' apron strings we timidly entered kindergarten in 1923. When we were promoted to the Garfield building our one thought was that we were at last really "big!" While in sixth grade our class average was the highest of any in the county and of anythat had been through the Garfield building in seven years.

Now we are in High School and still very proud of ourselves.

Our officers are: President, Bert Stone; Vice President, Elsie Ann Stine; and Secretary, Alice Adams; and Charles Lawrence, Treasurer.

FRESHMAN B CLASS ROLL

CLASS HISTORY

Although we are only "green little Freshmen" we certainly hope to make a name for ourselves during the four years which we are in high school. Of course, we have already made lots of seemingly silly mistakes such as, being in the wrong room, and asking about certain abbreviations as M. W. F. on the schedule sheet, which everyone thinks we should know. But what Freshmen Class has not made mistakes?

Our class is rather small, having only thirty one in number, but remember the old saying, "Great oaks from little acorns grow."

Our class party with the Freshmen A's and the Sophomore B's which was held Friday, March 24 was a huge success. We hope every party we ever attempt will be as enjoyable as this one was.

So keep your eyes open folks and soon you'll be seeing the Class of '37 doing big things.

Our class officers are: Doris Stackhouse, President; Betty Jane Ryan, Vice-President; Helen Wainwright, Secretary; Paul Vereb, Treasurer.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE NOTES

By Ralph Kilmer

The aim of the Vocational Agriculture course, in our high school is to interest the student in the field of agriculture and also to acquaint him with the future and opportunities in agriculture. Medina High School offers four years of Agriculture and one of Farm Shop. Each student carries on at his home, some project which is related to the study of agriculture in school. And one and one-fourth credit is given each year for this work.

The enrollment in the department is the largest of any year in the history of the department, with forty-one boys taking the course. Also more interest and better results have been secured this year. Farm Crops and Horticulture were studied by the Freshmen and Sophomores. The Juniors and Seniors studied Agricultural Engineering. Next year Animal Husbandry, Poultry, and Soils and Management will be given.

During the four years each boy is given the opportunity to participate in several activities, such as making the various judging teams, exhibiting different products at fairs, speaking in public contests or working in the Future Farmers' Organization. We have an active Future Farmers' Club. This organization is made up of Agriculture students. We meet regularly during the school year and summer months. F. F. A. officers are: William Hartman, president; Willis Schelechty, vice president; Richard Gayer, secretary; Bob Wideman, treasurer; and Godfrey Wolery, reporter. The Club sponsors many activities for and by the members. Among them are: A summer tour to World's Fair; judging trips to Ohio State University and State Fair; class projects; buying our feed, potatoes and chicks co-operatively.

Community work is carried on by the department, and this work consist of spraying orchards, testing seed corn, and testing soils and milk. The boys also run experiments on their school farm and orchard, to back up their scientific study.

This year the boys grew two acres of potatoes which were harvested and will be sold for seed this spring. The profit will go toward defraying expenses on the proposed trip to the World's Fair this summer. Mr. Duke is taking this trip with us and is helping us plan it.

Won—6 Lost—4 Tied—1

Medina High School, with seven lettermen back, had a very successful season.

New London took the championship. winning over us in the only league game we lost. We tied Amherst, and received second place in the league.

The season started with about thirty hard-working fellows out, offering plenty of competition for the varsity. We lose three lettermen for next season, "Bill" Wilkey, E. Bair, and Lloyd Hoff.

L. F. Bus Kaufman—A dependable fellow who was always down fast, under punts, an excellent pass receiver.

L. T. Bill Wilkey—A hard man to move on the defense, and always in the other team's way. We sure will miss him.

L. G. Hig Higgins—The fellow who generally stopped the opponents' plays before they developed. Few plays passed him.

The Squad

C. Bob Grim—An accurate center, and punter. He was always breaking up the opponents' plays.

R. G. Bair—This was his first and last year. When he hit a fellow you could hear a thump. We wish he could be back next fall.

R. T. Pete Rodgers—A player with plenty of weight and strength. He always kept the opponents' worrying.

R. E. Si Thomas—Si sure made "Bus" hustle to beat him down, under punts. Few end runs went around Si.

Q. Bill Hartman—Very accurate passer and punter. He was the best open field runner on the team.

L. H. Ted Jones—Quick on the getaway. Always could be depended on to work the quick opening plays.

R. H. Steve West—The best line plunger we had and great, once he got through. A good blocker who will help us greatly next year. (by Higgins.)

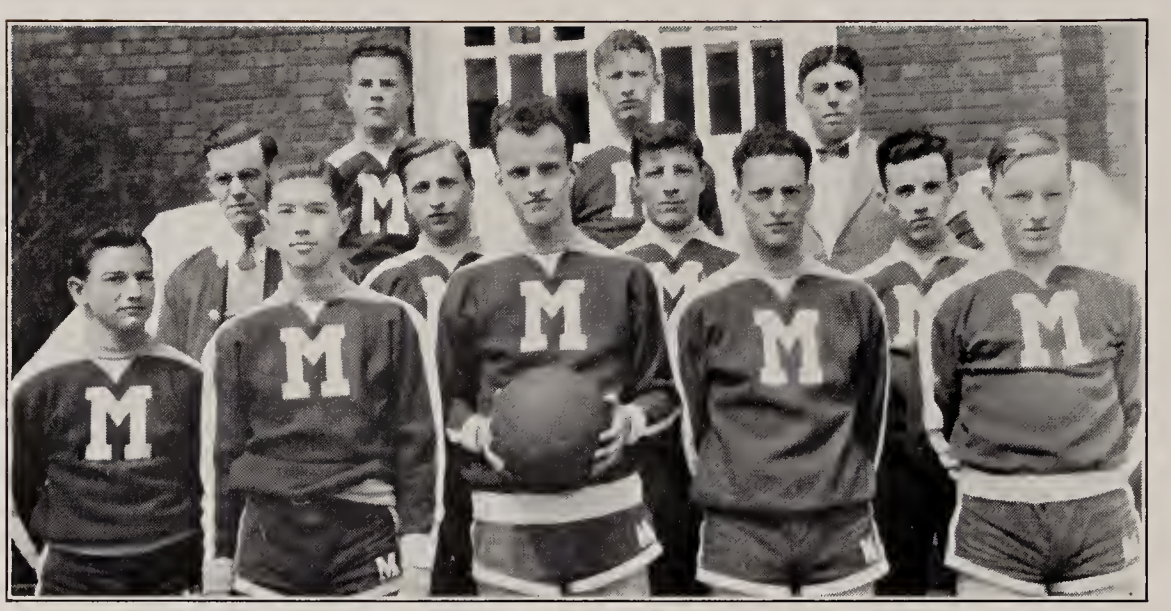
F. Lloyd Hoff—Sure did a good job of backing up line. He called the signals, and could also pass. The team will feel his absence next fall.

L. H. Paul Aylard—Was taken out of the game because of an injury. He sure put his whole interest in the game.

R. H. Claire Fulton—A speedy halfback who could be depended on to take the ball around the ends. We'll hear more of him next fall.

R. G. Ray Gordon—A good defensive, as well as an offensive, man. Was always where the opponents' did not expect him to be.

R. E. Burt Crocker—A good man at going down under punts. He sure put hard fight into the game.



BASKETBALL SQUAD

Paul Aylard; Robert Grim; Bill Hartman; Howard Higgins; Lloyd Hoff; Bob Potts; Bob Smith; Stephen West; George Whitfield; Bill Wilkey.

BASKETBALL 1932-33

By Robert Grim

We had a fairly successful season losing only four games, two of which we lost on our own floor. We are tied for second place in our league standing. We beat New London twice at the same sport which very few Medina teams have done.

The lightweight squad did not show up so well this year, winning only one game.

The following players received letters: Aylard; Grim; Hartman; Higgins; Hoff; Potts; Smith; West; Wilkey; Whitfield.

BOB POTTS—Forward

Bobby is a good player, both on defense and offense. It took a good guard to keep him from not making over six points. This is Bobby's last year and we will miss him next year.

LLOYD HOFF—Center

Lloyd has kept up his last year's record of being good for six points a game. This is Lloyd's third year on the squad.

STEVE WEST—Forward

This is Steve's second year on the team and he filled his position well. He has one more year and he will be expected to show his stuff.

BOB GRIM—Guard

Bob is a guard and a real one. He is a great guard, both offensively and defensively, and has another year and a half. (by Higgins.)

HOWARD HIGGINS—Guard

He is one of the best guards ever seen at Medina. He has a habit of potting two or three long shots a game. He can keep any forward from making very many points. He has one more year.

BILL HARTMAN—Guard

Bill is a good basketball player and is a hard man to guard. This is his second year and he still has another year.

PAUL AYLARD—Forward

Paul is a good player, both on defense and offense, although he has been handicapped by a weak knee. This is Paul's last year and we will miss him.

BOB SMITH—Forward

Bob, a forward, plays either forward or center and he can fill either position well. This is Bob's last.

GEORGE WHITFIELD—Guard

He is another player who can fill in at almost any place. He started out playing guard but was changed to forward. This is his last year.

BILL WILKEY—Guard

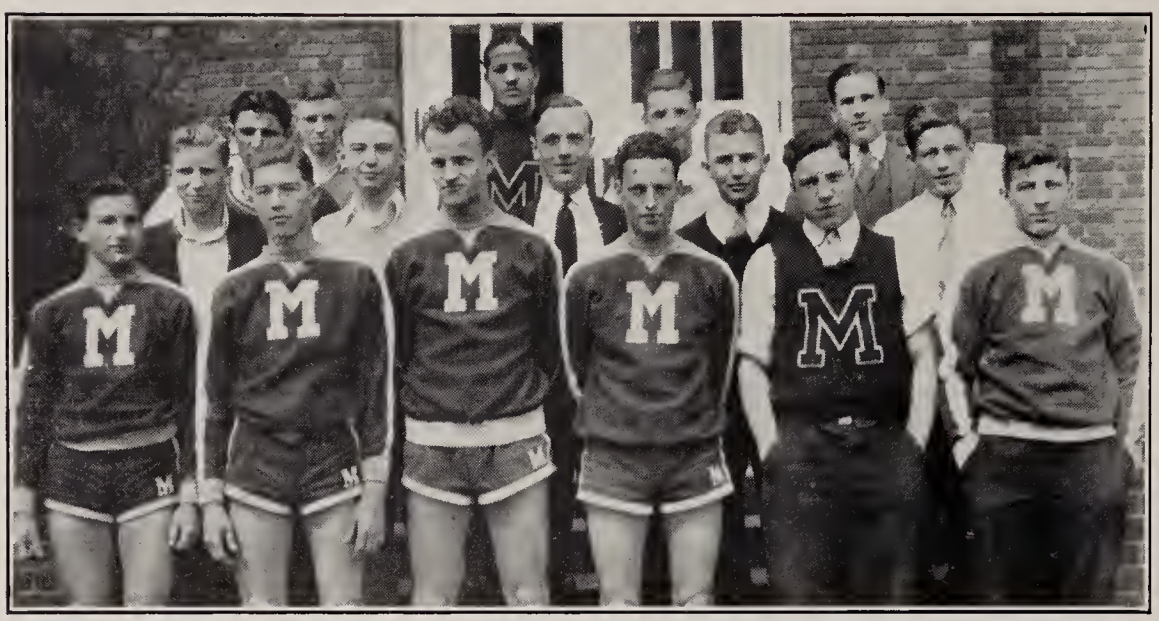
Bill is a good guard. He can put in long shots and, on defense, he never lets his man get away from him. This is also his last year.



TRACK SQUAD

VARSITY TRACK

By Roy Wilkey

The track squad started training on April 3, 1933. Thirty men reported. Although we have lost many of our better men, we have an exceptionally strong team. Three years ago we lost the championship by one-half point, but, for the last two years we have brought the cup home. We are expecting to repeat that feat again this year. Our coaches, Mr. Claggett and Mr. Masi, should have no trouble turning out a championship team again this year. Many of the boys on the team went to Oberlin last year, and so are rich in experience. The league meet this year will be held at Oberlin on April 22. We have no important meets until then.

Each member of the squad is working hard, so that he can make the team and go to the meet to show what he can do.

BASKETBALL RESUME

By May Maitland

The squad started this winter, with "Pete" Koppes our only regular from last year, and achieved a very successful session.

Out of the eleven games played we lost only two, these being to Willard and New London. We lost to New London, our rival, on our own floor but "walloped" them on their own floor.

Guard—Wanda Koppes—Class of '33—"Pete" was our Honorary Captain this year. She has proved her ability and willingness to fight for the Green and White by representing the High School for four years. We will certainly miss her next year.

Guard—Elizabeth McMillan—Class of '33—"Liz" has shown her fame as a Medina star in her "knock down and drag 'em out" way, (Nova Game). Liz surely furnished some pretty good jokes, too.

Guard—Ida Britt—Class of '33—"Pet" never lacked team work and she always could be depended upon to stop her opponents from making the "buckets." Her sense of direction always came to the rescue! (Liz and Scotty)

Guard—May Maitland—Class of '34—"Scotty" has shown her ability as a Medina Hi player. She could certainly stop her opponents even though she did some boxing. We are glad we have her another year. (Liz)

Guard—Gwendolyn Crocker—Class of '33—This was "Gwen's" second year and we only wish that she were going to be with us next year, because when she made up her mind to play she showed us she had the old fight.

Guard—Ramona Renner—Class of '33—"Renner" could always be depended upon to supply the jokes. She had the needed energy and pep to help win the game. We are glad she has two more years.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Guard—Velma Kelser—Class of '34—"Babe" is not what you would call a small person and her opponents certainly had a hard time trying to get around her.

Center—Ruth Mabry—Class of '34—"Slim's" ability to get the tip off, plus her ability to put in the long shots, made her one of the most valuable players on the 1933 team.

Forward—Genevieve Betz—Class of '33—"Genny" became one of the High School stars and won her letter by hard work. She had the "never-say-die" spiirt and she was always on hand when needed. She was our highest scorer this year.

Forward—June Lincoln—Class of '33—"Junie" won considerable prominence in basketball this year. We will miss her efforts for a winning team, next year.

Forward—Virginia Halderson—Class of '33—"Ginny" was a forward worthy of mention, because she had the old fight for Medina. When she decided to pile up the score she could not be stopped.

Forward—Isabelle West—Class of '35—"Issy" a faithful and reliable player, who was willing to give her best whenever called upon, deserves a full share of praise. We are thankful she will be with us two more years.

Forward—Joyce Wolfe—Class of '34—This is Joyce's first year but she could be depended upon to be right on the spot. We hope she comes out next year.

Forward—Polly Anderson—Class of '34—Polly's ever ready eagerness to play the game was characteristic of her playing throughout the season. She should make herself known next year.

OBERLIN SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

This school is coming out of the business depression in fine condition and now occupies a position as one of the leading schools of business training in the entire country. It has trained thousands of accountants, secretaries, stenographers, and auditors who are filling prominent positions in all parts of the United States and other countries. Many prominent bank officials, bank examiners and industrialists made their preparation at the Oberlin School of Commerce and look back to their days in this school as the beginning of their success.

The fact that this school admits only those having at least a high school education makes it possible to offer stronger courses than the average business school. The 1933 graduates of our high school would find a course in this school of great value to them.

When you buy a policy of insurance you are contracting money for delivery—10, 20 or 30 years hence or sooner if death should terminate the contract. Last year all insurance settlements amounted to $3,100,000,000; or $9,904,153 went into the hands of the insured or their families each working day of the year. The total raised by all agencies for relief of the needy was less than $100,000,000.

The insurance family of America is composed of over 65,000,000 people. The time to become a member of this large family is when you are young and thus receive the benefit of the lower rate.

Best wishes to the Class of 1933
